

Interior Design for the Home

Course Type: Part Time Love2Learn

Location: City Centre Campus

This course will introduce you to some easy methods for creating a lovely home. Learn how to think like a designer and confidently choose colours, patterns and furnishings that are practical, good-looking and will delight your friends and family. Learn also how our surroundings have an effect on our behaviour, and how we can utilise that to make our homes feel great as well as looking wonderful. Each room in the home will be considered, discussed and designed.

What topics are covered?

Colours and colour schemes; Use of space; Cohesion in interiors; Texture; Creating mood & concept boards; Perspective drawing; Scale drawing; Understanding home construction; Measuring the space to be designed; Looking at space in different ways including understanding how your home is constructed – what to take into account when redesigning a room, how to make the best use of available space and to choose the right furniture for your space.

Who is the course aimed at?

Anyone who wants to create a beautiful and cohesive home. No previous experience necessary. Suitable for beginners.

Who will be my tutor?

Sim Barker is a designer with 17 years experience working with domestic and commercial interiors. The rooms she creates are warm and welcoming, bringing beauty into client's homes and workplaces. Sim has also worked with many of the UK's designer paint makers, who value her unrivalled eye for colour and style.
